

Firemen Retirement Plan Approved Tentatively By City Commission

At an afternoon workshop Tuesday, Belle Glade City Commission tentatively approved a retirement plan for firemen, to be a part of the overall group insurance plan for city employees.

Official action on the plan will be taken at the regular Monday night meeting of the commission, and the plan will then be submitted to the state treasurer's office for acceptance.

An insurance retirement plan for all city employees with the exception of the city's firemen, was adopted as of April 1, 1964, but a few kinks remained to be worked out on their inclusion in the master plan. The plan must qualify under state law for the city to continue receiving excise tax return benefits from the state, which this year totaled $2,193. This will go toward payment of the firemen retirement pension fund, city finance officer Frank Anderson explained.

Also under study by the commission and discussed at Tuesday's informal meeting, is a franchise plan for city garbage disposal.

This franchise plan has proven very beneficial to several communities where it has been put in operation, city manager Huguley reported.

It Was Just A "32"

Russell Kay is complaining of the laws against firecrackers and the oldtime Fourth celebration, and says "We have advanced a long way. I think the local dealers won't sell it to him, he can order it by mail."

If you think Russell is STRETCHING it just go out in Belle Glade and see how fast he can get his "32" or order by mail.

The three robbers as well as the serious "murderous" attacks recorded by the Belle Glade police during recent months were committed with the use of "32's" it is reported, bought in the open market in Belle Glade, and in most cases, under phony names.

We favor CONTROL, not elimination of ability to purchase — identification of purchaser, with a permit, and jailbirds prohibited.

Inadequate Supervision, Too Much Money And Free Time

Lead Youngsters Into Trouble—Police Officers Report

Reports and rumors have been rampant over the past many weeks about the conduct of teenagers 12 to 19 years of age, with irresponsible acts among teenagers reducing as the age nears 19, according to the sum total of information gleaned from City, County and State Peace officers.

Some "inside" reports among the youngsters themselves tend to confirm a pattern of misbehavior in the groups over the past many weeks that conscientious parents could never divine.

Hard facts, though, uphold the justification of the appeal from Chief Goodlett, Deputy Sheriff Hilton Bonard, and City Manager Tevis Huguley, who said that parents could exercise much more supervision of youngsters, know where they are, and what they are doing.

We have reliable information, from individuals, as well as from the police, as to "doings" that would make the hair of any parent stand on end if they themselves knew.

Many of the "doings" over the PAST MANY WEEKS are in no way connected with the passage of the Civil Rights Bill, but rather result in a search for "thrills."

Incidents and happenings in the area over the past few days have followed the same pattern of young people out looking for thrills... and is a problem of concern to us," said Goodlett.

"They just ride around... gather into large groups and then get to large groups and then get to smart alec and antagonize others, sometimes with a search for "thrills."

Clothing Features For Physically Handicapped

Miss Mary L. Todd, Palm Beach County Home Demonstration Agent, says nothing features for physically handicapped women have been developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

She says new designs suggest that clothing for the disabled can help handicapped women take care of themselves and do their housework more effectively. The clothing has been designed to reflect freedom of movement, comfort, convenience, safety and attractive appearance. The collection contains garments generally worn at home — dresses, slacks, skirts, blouses, shorts and pajamas.

Features include all-size easy fit, open necklines, low rolling collars, moderately full skirts, front openings, secure closures suited to body irregularities, maternity blouses, bell-bottom waistlines or belts attached to the garment, roomy, easy-to-reach pockets reinforced against strain and styled so the contents will not spill over when the person is sitting. Features that make the garment respond readily to rotary motions of the shoulders are also included.

The fabrics are elastic, not only for comfort service, but also for easy care. Special features provide extra "give" where clothes are frequently stretched or rippled at waistlines, shoulders, hips or across the back. These features allow a disabled person to reach high or low without being restrained and fatigued by clothing.

Waistlines of dresses and skirts add to comfort and helps hold in the blouse.

The fasteners used are zipper, pressure tape and snap fasteners, but many types of handicaps. The waistband of one skirt is fastened with a modified overshoe buckle, because flip-type fasteners are difficult for persons with certain finger disabilities.

Aprons are designed to protect clothing during work and at meals, or carrying to dinner.

Commission Informed

Critical Room Shortage Exists in PBC Courtroom Accommodations

County Commissioners this week were apprised of a critical shortage of space in judicial facilities housed in the county house and were asked to get together to find new court room accommodations.

Leading a delegation of jurists and attorneys was Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow who painted a grim picture for the commission as to present overcrowding conditions in office space. He said the future would bring only more critical room shortages if something were not done now to correct the situation.

"It is so critical," Judge Morrow told the commission, "that we feel it should appear before you now and ask that you start planning for the future."

Judge Morrow predicted the future — based on population figures and legislative action — will bring three new judges — juvenile, crime and county court. He added that if, within five years, if the county maintains its present growth, three more circuit court judges will be added.

Criminal Court Judge Russell McIntosh urged the commission to immediately budget funds for purchase of land for a new county court building some place away from the courthouse. This step, he said, will make two court rooms and other space available in the courthouse.

A new building, Judge McIntosh said, will provide only temporary relief for a critical condition, "If it were built to

Know What You're Voting For

The "Get Out The Vote" campaigns are beginning as November approaches. One leaflet is entitled "Just One Vote!" and is aimed squarely at the eligible voters who stay away from the polls. And they amount to a disgracefully large number. In 1960, a presidential election year, more than a third of the voters failed to exercise their right of franchise — a right which is at the very heart of representative government and a social cause. In the off-year elections of 1962 the showing was worse still, with more than half of the eligible voters staying away from the polls.

How important is one vote? It can actually determine the result. In recent elections, a mayor, a city treasurer, a councilman and a state legislator won office by a narrow margin. And, moving up the ladder, the late President Kennedy's plurality in 1960 was less than one vote per precinct. His margin of victory was less than 100,000 votes out of almost 69 million cast.

So much for facts and figures. Another point needs stressing: The country doesn't need "Just Votes." It needs "Informed Voters" — men and women who study the issues and the positions of the candidates, all the way from town and country to Capitol Hill and the White House and know exactly what they are voting for.

So — vote and vote intelligently for the people and the principles you believe in.

There Are No "Federal Funds"

The Senate recently approved a proposal to write into all spending measures the pointed reminder that the money appropriated comes out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Let us hope that the House follows suit and makes this an established policy from now on. For the term "federal funds" — which we have seen applied to all manner of activities, from highway to welfare programs — obviously has misled many people. They seem to believe that this money comes from some mysterious source which has no relation to themselves.

Well, the federal government can get money only in two ways. One is by taxes which hit us all hard. The other is by increasing the national debt which will have to be paid, plus interest and administrative costs, by the taxpayers of tomorrow.

The only money the government has, or ever has had, is that which it gets from the taxpayers. It's time much more notice was given to this simple and inescapable fact.

U. S. Beef To Europe

A short time ago a liner carried a shipment of American beef to London where it went on display at the famous Smithfield market. And that was an event of potentially great significance.

It marked the start of a cooperative program of the American Meat Institute and the Department of Agriculture to promote the sale of American beef in Europe. This is plain, is one way and a most important way — of helping to solve the twin problems of overproduction and depressed prices the American beef producer has been facing. And the producers recognize that fact — the head of the American National Cattlemen's Association wrote a warm letter in praise of the venture to the president of the Institute.

What are the chances of success? It may be said that the signs are good. According to the Department of Agriculture, beef supplies are currently short in Europe; consumers demand is rising, and fewer supplies are available from traditional foreign suppliers. Some beef short comers also have lowered trade restrictions against imported meats. And Europe's general prosperity is given credit to her population the wherewithal to buy the meats they want. This is a totally new project. And it is eminently worthwhile.

MILES CITY, MONT., STAR: "The city of Washington now has the means to provide delivery of surplus foods direct to the recipients, so that its relief clients may be fed without having to pull a muscle. The checks, of course, arrive by mail. Indigence becomes more attractive as a way of life all the time, particularly those whose skills and accomplishments cannot command large wages in the labor market. The battle plan for the war on poverty seem now to lean too heavily on retaining programs for which few are qualified, on handouts which make demands attractive, and on raising wage levels by law to price even more of those of limited capabilities out of the market. Can't the best brains in the Administration come up with something better than a plan for a permanent poor?"

SO. BOSTON, VA. GAZETTE: VIRGINIAN: "... it takes bad luck from Mother Nature like last year's drought, and it takes Mother Nature's smile, like last week's rains, to make us feel how utterly dependent we are on things we cannot control — men. Call it the jet stream, the airflow, a quirk of Nature, or call it God, but the fact is that many of us are not masters of our fate and are keenly aware of our dependence on Somebody Up There Who Likes Us."

WILLAMINA, ORE. TIMES: "The federal government of this great country maintains academies for training young men for Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard. How about ours to train Diplomats? That is the field in which we always seem to lose the most battles."

Dear Mister Editor:

Me and my old lady went to church Sunday morning and I got to cover up that dirt. The newspaper used to make my towels smell. They was a old saying that a architect covers up his mistakes with ivy, the doctor covers his with a cement slab and a fellas wife covers up with perfume, but them politicians was having less luck all the time in the covering business.

He also reported that chaos was at the door and all around the world. I don't like to argue with my preacher but he is dead wrong about that one. Chaos come to the top a long time ago.

And, as far as I'm concerned, my old lady in a church of shock from losing her Circle's dues money. She says she knows the Lord will believe in her if she forgives him, but members of my church never will — either believe it or forgive it. She allows as how she aims to replace the money if she has to sell one of my horses. I don't know if she does me and my sons got stuck up in this thing but it just goes to show you, Mister Editor, how a feller can be a good fellow.

Ed Doolittle came by the house today and Ed is mighty disturbed over the way them Congressmen covered up the Babbitt Baker mess. Natural, he blames it on the Democrats. But I think, Mister Editor, it's gitting hard.

"The Atlas Of Florida" Released

By University Of Florida Press

"Too Late To Classify"

By Russell Kay

How well do you know your state? Could you answer such questions as: "What is the state bird, state flower? When was Florida admitted to the Union? What is the total area of the state? How do we rank with other states in population, trade, bank deposit, production, culture."

All of these questions as well as thousands of others are answered in a single volume, "The Atlas of Florida," just published by the University of Florida Press.

Authorized and copyrighted by the Board of Commissioners of the State Institute of Education, it is edited by Erwin Riese and Associates with text by John R. Dunkle and prepared in the Department of Geography, University of Florida.

A foreword by Governor Farris Bowdrie states:

"The face of Florida is varied, and our citizens have a deep affection for their native or adopted state. The Atlas of Florida attempts to exhibit this variety in as clear, precise, and accurate a manner as possible. We who live in Florida can find here much of information that is necessary for us to enjoy our advantages of residence to the fullest and solve our problems of rapid growth in most effective manner. I am sure that the Atlas, a guide to the history and scenery that will enable them more rapidly to know our state as a whole, past and present. This publication will settle in Florida and help to build our economy and resources on display within these covers. The student will profit from this basic accumulation of data."

Published in full color and generally illustrated with accurate Florida scenes, maps, graphs and charts, it presents a graphic story of the "Sunshine State."

Impressive color charts indicate Florida's location as it relates to the nation, and the geological geography of the State is fully dealt with from the Paleozoic Age to the present time with a description of geological formations, mineral deposits, fossils and soils.

A section is devoted to our water resources, sea, lakes and rivers. It also discusses such problems as flood control, beach erosion, the proposed cross-state canal, springs and underground waters, etc.

Other subjects covered in detail with graphic charts include agriculture, industry, the sun, rains and winds. Soils from northern uplands type to the swamps and marsh and bottom lands of the "glades." Vegetation, crops, livestock, farms and markets, marine life and fishing, both sport and commercial, transportation, communications, population, its character, den-er all the time for politicians to cover up their dirt. The newspaper used to make my towels smell. They was a old saying that a architect covers up his mistakes with ivy, the doctor covers his with a cement slab and a fellas wife covers up with perfume, but them politicians was having less luck all the time in the covering business.

Ed was also of the opinion that the son of their young fellers in Congress was talking too loud for their age. He allowed as how they got what they was calling a "Young Tree" group in the Congress. It was the people it was a "Young versus Old" movement to get better legislation for the country. Ed said he could recollect once when he was a boy that the Texas got up on the floor and passed the stopper in that jug. Senator Connally told 'em it wasn't nothing but "Good Judgment versus Naivete."

Ed Doolittle said, Ed didn't aim to go hunting, but he didn't go hunting on a topic he don't know nothing about, but he was of the opinion one of the greatest troubles in the country is that there is a dirt farmer in the whole bunch. He said the U. S. Commissioner of Agriculture claimed he was to be a farmer but Ed doubted that would qualify for Judge in a hog show. Ed was down in the dumps Sunday night, Mister Editor.

It would seem well that the opinion of Solomon upon which so many civic and civilian groups were largely founded or based, be more open and better considered. Such consideration would be consistent with all religious beliefs here, and even with the thoughts of those not subscribing to any religion or sect.

A large part of such wisdom, applicable to problems today, is set forth and epitomized by a single verse from the Book of Proverbs: "A wise man will hear seven sayings of fools and will not be grieved thereby." Treasury To Double Coin Production

The Treasury today announced an intensified program to double the nation's rate of coin production within a year and raise it to 75 percent during the next six months.

By the end of this program will boost our coin production to an annual rate of over 9 billion new coins — more than double the 4 billion level for fiscal 1965 and triple the 3 billion level for fiscal 1961. For the last six months of this year normally a time of peak demand for coins — the program will mean a 75 percent increase in coin production over the same period last year, a rise to 3.5 billion new coins from the 2 billion produced in the last half of 1963.

This increased production will be distributed among the various denominations of coins in about the present ratios — roughly two-thirds pennies, one-fourth nickels and dimes, and the rest quarters and half-dollars.

The new program will augment the Treasury's already heightened efforts to expand the nation's coin production in the face of a growing need for coins.

Steps already taken to expand current production of coins include the purchase of rolled nickel strip for the making of all five-cent coins — thus saving the cost of equipment for other production — and the inauguration of a continuous 7-day, 24-hour production schedule at the nation's two Mints, Denver and Philadelphia.

These actions will increase production for the coming fiscal year by 1.5 billion coins, or about 35 percent of the total budgeted production up to some 5 billion coins.

To augment these measures, the following new steps will be taken:

1. Beginning early in July, bronze strip for pennies will be purchased in addition to the nickel strip already being used for five-cent coins, thus freeing all melting, casting and rolling operations for the production of more silver coins.

2. New coin presses (used to imprint the design of the coin) are being ordered for delivery early in August. These presses, which can be converted for Mint use, are being acquired from the surplus stocks of the Department of Defense, the General Services Administration, and private industry.

3. In December, when current orders have been filled, the production of special sets of coins for collectors will be suspended. Those of its presses that are suitable will be converted to make higher speeds and will be devoted to the production of coins for circulation.

4. As additional presses become available, the production of annealed blanks (round pieces of metal the actual size of the coin softened to take the die) for nickels and pennies will be temporarily shifted to the U.S. Assay Office in San Francisco, thus permitting the Mints to concentrate on the final stages of the production of all coins.

5. The Congress will be asked to extend the cut-off date on all coins indefinitely, thus eliminating any possible incentives for keeping 1964 coins out of circulation for speculative purposes.

Through these and other measures, the Treasury Department will continue to seek out ways of assuring an adequate supply of coins to meet existing demands pending the construction of the new Philadelphia Mint authorized last August. This Mint will replace the cur-

Summer Program At Lake Shore

Schools Reaches Mid-Way Point

The summer enrichment program of the Lake Shore Elementary and High Schools sponsored by the Palm Beach County Board of Public Instruction reached the mid-way point.

There are 6 different subjects, Willie Irvin is center coordinator of the program. There are 230 students registered in the 5 different subjects. Irvin emphasized that everyone is given equal opportunity and now is accomplishing a great deal in the coming three weeks.

There are 5 phases to the program including physical education taught by W. Irvin and Mattie Norman, swimming taught by Helen Verzen, Industrial Arts taught by Willie S. Singleton, Driver Education taught by Robert Reed and Residential Education taught by Elmer Washington. This helps those students who are weak in reading subjects and gives the extra intelligent child an opportunity to work on his own interests in which he is most interested.

Out of the 40 students enrolled in driver education, 20 completed the 30 hours classroom instruction and have passed the road test for license. Twenty remaining students will take the test the following week.

The Industrial arts program includes a judo program in the morning and a senior program in the afternoon. Four outstanding students of the arts are Mary Crittenden, Milton

Gladden, Eddie King and

Robert Reed.

City Products And Geneva's Past Wins In Softball League

Billy Butler, threw a three-hitter at Billy Rogers Farm as City Products won a 12-4 decision in Glades Fast-Pitch Softball League action. Butler got plenty of support from his mates. In the first, he was cushioned with Alvy Early hit his third home run, a three-run blast in the third, and Nick Collins lined his second homer, a two-run shot, in the fourth. Butler connected for his first home run in the sixth clinching a perfect night at the plate in which he hit for the cycle, getting a single, double, triple and home run while hitting his average.

Geneva's Drive-In eked out a 10-9 win from Bryant Sugar Mills in a slug fest that saw Alvy Early hit his second home run for the Sugar Mill, Larry Marsh connect for his second round-tripper for Geneva's, and Jim Gillis hit his first with a man on for Geneva. While Lee increased his lead in the league's double department as he hit his fourth and fifth double for Geneva's.

Investigate Your GI Social Security

L. V. McClelland, Glades Veterans Service Officer said today that a little known aspect of the social security law is the use of military service.

With a veteran who has had military service between Sept. 16, 1940 and Dec. 30, 1956, retires, dies, or becomes disabled, he may receive credit of $160 a month of disability, says Pettis.

This military credit does not automatically appear on the individual's earnings record and can be established only at the time the claim is filed. Another little known aspect, Dixon said, of the social security law has helped many veterans to become entitled to social security benefits.

Beginning January 1, 1957 all military personnel were brought under the law and deductions are being made from their paychecks.

It is important that all should be aware of these provisions. In order to receive these credits, a veteran or his supervisor must present, at the time of filing a claim, proof of military service. This is the only proof available to present to the Social Security office is a discharge certificate or other official documents showing the period of military service.

WHEREAS, the occupation of farming has the highest number of workers killed annually of any other occupation, and WHEREAS, the failure to observe adequate farm safety measures is associated with nearly all of these deaths and injuries in Florida.

Florida's blind residents who plan to attend the New York World's Fair will be provided a specially prepared 21-page Braille pamphlet as an easy guide to the fair exhibits and buildings.

The pamphlet is being made available to blind visitors, estimated to be about 100 a day from throughout the world, through the courtesy of General Foods Corporation and the Lighthouse of the New York Association for the Blind.

The pamphlet, which was written by Mae Cassidy of the Lighthouse staff and was published by the Lighthouse Braille Transcribing Service, General Foods Corporation is underwriting costs of the pamphlet.

The Unisphere, the 1964 Fair's symbol, is emblazoned on the pamphlet, orange and blue cover. The pamphlet will be distributed free to all blind visitors at the Boy Scout encampment.
